

Chris Colfer will meet gleeful 'Land of Stories' fans in Miami

Author and actor Chris Colfer will discuss "The Land of Stories: Worlds Collide" on Friday, July 21, in an event at Miami Dade College sponsored by Books and Books. (AP)

By Ben Crandell
SouthFlorida.com

JULY 17, 2017, 2:30 PM

Fans of "The Land of Stories" will have a shot at meeting kid-lit author and actor Chris Colfer when he brings his Worlds Collide Tour to Miami Dade College on Friday, July 21.

Colfer on July 11 released the sixth and final installment of his No. 1 New York Times best-selling "The Land of Stories" series, a book called "The Land of Stories: Worlds Collide."

The former star of the TV hit "Glee" (as Kurt Hummel), Colfer will appear in the college's Chapman Conference Center 7-9 p.m. in a Books and Books-sponsored event that will include a reading by Colfer, an audience Q-and-A, "The Land of Stories" trivia and a costume contest with prizes.

Tickets for the event are $21.39, which includes a copy of “The Land of Stories: Worlds Collide.” They are available at BooksAndBooks.com.

Along with admission, each book purchase comes with a ticket for a raffle drawing for a VIP meet-and-greet with Colfer immediately following the event. He will choose five people to meet him (along with one guest each), snap pictures and have their books personalized. Fans in costume will receive an additional raffle ticket.

The Chapman Conference Center is on Miami Dade College’s Wolfson Campus, 300 NE Second Ave. For more information on the book series, visit TheLandofStories.com.

bcrandell@sun-sentinel.com

Copyright © 2017, South Florida

This article is related to: Miami Dade College, Chris Colfer