The college's Student Government Association (SGA) helped organize the event with the intention of expressing the simple point that the frequency of such shootings and massacres is not normal.

SGA spokesperson Miguel Zamudio says he doesn't want the current pattern of massacres to continue.

"This is something that has to be addressed. Regardless of political party, we need to find solutions, because every other weekend, we cannot have dozens of Americans dying at the hands of just one person," Zamudio said.
